Women, And Men, Of Lakewood Represented At Local And National Women's Marches

by Margaret Brinich

A warm sunny day in January brought thousands of marchers to downtown Cleveland, where a strong Lakewood contingent made their way through the city streets holding signs with cheeky sayings and making serious pleas for help, all in the name of equal rights for all. As a city that has a reputation for being on the forefront of the equality movement, it was not surprising to see so many friends and neighbors from Lakewood in the crowd. Women, and men, from Lakewood also made the trip down to Washington, D.C. on organized buses to take part in the flagship march on our nation's capital. Many participants shared their experiences with the LO and their photos can be found inside on page 13.

Epic Beard Contest To Highlight LakewoodAlive’s Lumberjack Bash

by Matt Bixenstine

This contest might sound strange at first, but chances are it will grow on you. Lake - strange at first, but chances are it will grow on you. LakewoodAlive has unveiled details regarding the Epic Beard Contest, which will serve as a centerpiece of Loving Lakewood Bash, presented by Geiger's. District Artists Shine In Scholastic Art And Writing Contest

by Christine Gordillo

Artwork created by students from Lakewood High School, West Shore Career Tech's Media Art & Design program and Harding Middle School earned more than 40 honors, including 11 highest honors, in the annual Scholastic Art & Writing Awards regional competition. In total, Lakewood and West Tech students earned 45 recognitions.

Winners of a Gold Key, the highest honor given, are Kaylee Banhidy, Garrett Bodnar, Micah Inak, Faiza Manaa, Sara McMillen, Elyza Mihalski, Balint Muller (double winner), Ava Olic, Maya O'Reilly and Maya Sutliff. Gold Key winners move on to be judged at the national level of the 93-year-old competition. Only one other high school in the region had more Gold Keys awarded.

Lakewood and West Shore students were also heavily represented at the Silver Key and Honorable Mention levels. Thirteen students won 15 Silver Keys, including two by Jessica Paul and Jueun Lee. Nineteen students earned Honorable Mention designations for their art or writing, including two mentions for Dale Brueke, Lauren Lowell and Ava Olic.

The Cleveland Institute of Art hosts the regional competition that recognizes creative achievement in art and writing educators, artists and educators, writers, and writing educators. This year's Regional winners in the art categories will be on display in the Art Gallery at the Cleveland Institute of Art beginning this month. Winners will be recognized at an award ceremony on Jan. 14 at the Cleveland Institute of Art. Congratulations to all the winners and teachers Amy Garritano, Dayna Hansen, Sonja Krep, Anne McQuay, Arline Olean, Autumn Sabin and Amy Sedlak.

Maya Sutliff’s drawing of a young girl’s self haircut won a Gold Key in the Drawing & Illustration category.

Renewable Energy Power-Up For Northeast Ohio
by Matt Kuhns
You're purchasing a lot more renewable energy this year, most likely thanks to the Northeast Ohio Public Energy Council (NOPEC).

Beginning this month, NOPEC member cities including Lakewood are changing their default electricity supplier, from FirstEnergy to NextEra. It's a nearly invisible transition for the individual household, bills still arrive from The Illuminating Company, rates aren't increasing, and there is no action to complete. Unless you opt out of it, your electric bill payments automatically go toward 50% renewable power, now.

This places NOPEC and its membership well ahead of Ohio's current goal—which recently went back into force after a two-year “freeze”—of 12.5% electricity from renewable sources by 2027. The partnership with NextEra effectively leapfrogs that goal in replacing FirstEnergy, which supplied renewable content of only a few percent.

The fact that electric power and electric bills continue to arrive from The Illuminating Company, which is a part of FirstEnergy, demonstrates a little of the hidden complexity in modern deregulated utility services. Between electricity's arrival at your home, and the companies which generate it, a host of buyers, sellers, aggregators and regulators are all at work.

NOPEC is an aggregator. Combining the purchasing power of more than 200 cities and towns in 13 Northeast Ohio counties, it works to negotiate better electricity and natural gas rates. Mayors organized NOPEC in 1999 to take advantage of market deregulation, and Lakewood was a founding member. Since then the not-for-profit organization, managed by volunteer directors, has grown into the largest utility aggregator in the United States. NOPEC negotiates on behalf of every household and small business customer in member communities, unless a customer actively opts out.

Its new agreement with NextEra follows the breakdown of a multi-year contract with FirstEnergy, which NOPEC negotiated in 2010. When industry rumors suggested FirstEnergy might declare bankruptcy, if unsuccessful in a campaign to raise and re-regulate electricity rates, NOPEC pressed for guarantees of supply security. After disagreements between the two briefly went to court, FirstEnergy announced in October that it would terminate its contract with NOPEC in January 2017.

Over the next several weeks, letters addressed NOPEC customers that electricity service would continue uninterrupted, one way or another; at one point Lakewood officials suggested that a temporary extension with FirstEnergy was possible.

Instead, NOPEC completed “a very abbreviated RFQ (Request for Qualifications) process,” in the words of its Executive Director Chuck Keiper. On November 7, it announced the result: a three-year agreement with NextEra, beginning in time for a seamless transition this month.

Somewhat like FirstEnergy, NextEra operates a handful of local subsidiary companies, although its total footprint is considerably larger. NextEra's empire sprawls through more than half of the 50 states as well as four Canadian provinces, with combined generating capacity almost three times FirstEnergy's. It's also more invested in renewables than FirstEnergy, and less reliant on fossil fuels.

Under its agreement with NOPEC, NextEra will round up the renewable content of our electricity to an even 50% using Renewable Energy Certificates (RECs). Essentially, this means NextEra will purchase additional renewable power for the region from other suppliers; because electricity from all sources is identical once it enters the vast grid, the REC system assigns suppliers one certificate for each Megawatt-hour of renewable power they produce. Keeping track of RECs allows “downstream” users the choice of buying some of their electricity supply from a specifically renewable source.

The contract with NextEra lasts for three years, during which time NOPEC intends to carry out a slower, “very robust RFQ” for future options, according to Keiper. Whatever its result, however, its current partnership includes a further small but lasting push toward sustainable, clean power. Currently, NextEra's renewable generating capacity consists largely of nuclear energy. But the agreement with NOPEC requires $10,000,000 of the eventual proceeds to fund construction of new capacity from entirely green sources such as solar and wind. By itself, this could purchase approximately three or four utility-scale wind turbines, though it will ultimately contribute to a much larger total “Green Era” construction fund at NextEra.

In the bigger picture, even 50% renewable electricity is admittedly modest progress toward the zero-carbon economy which scientists, business leaders, governments and environmental groups have called for achieving within a few decades' time at most. The overall fuel mix “powering” Lakewood and other NOPEC communities still includes buildings mostly heated with natural gas, and vehicles mostly running on petroleum.

Nonetheless, NOPEC's agreement with NextEra suggests how much is already within easy reach, given that it will deliver a significantly cleaner and more sustainable energy mix with out customers spending a single extra penny.

For the first half of 2017 NOPEC customers will pay fixed rates, comparable to those from the former FirstEnergy supply contract. In The Illuminating Company service area, residential customers' rate is 4.907¢ per kWh and business customers' is 4.978¢. After June, NOPEC customers can sign up to continue the fixed-rate service for a longer term, but the default option will be a variable rate about five percent less than comparable, individual rates from the local utility provider (FirstEnergy). Along with a recent report from the Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory, concluding that such higher costs as renewable energy does involve are more than repaid by related savings, NOPEC's deal with NextEra suggests less and less economic incentive for fossil fuel use, even if political agendas are another matter.

Complex Bridge Rehab Project Moves Forward
by Nickie Antonios
Last month State Rep. Nickie Antonios (D-Lakewood) announced the release of $345,287 in state funding to complete construction contract plans for the rehabilitation of the State Route 176 southbound bridge over Interstate Route 71 southbound in Cuyahoga County.

The Controlling Board, a panel tasked with oversight of state spending, approved the funding at today's meeting.

"I am pleased the state recognizes the importance of investing in Northeast Ohio's roads and bridges," said Antonios. "Modern, reliable roadways are vital to ensuring people can get to and from work, children can ride to school safely, and goods and services can be delivered on time. I look forward to the completion of this long awaited bridge project."

The Controlling Board originally approved $400,000 in August 2015 for a preliminary engineering study, environmental documentation and completion of construction contract plans. The latest round of funding comes after preliminary engineering studies encountered a more complex structure and traffic maintenance issues than anticipated.

Construction costs for the SR 176 bridge rehabilitation project are estimated at $4 million. The construction contract will likely be awarded in January 2020.

Thursday, January 26
Author Event - “The Cubicle Chronicles”

by Lynn Brookdale

Bethany Bowser is like most recent college graduates: idealistic, underemployed, and broke. After leaving her dead-end telemarketing job, she happily accepts a position at a prestigious Pittsburgh investment firm. She soon discovers, however, that it’s a corporate world and she’s just living in it. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

7:00 p.m. in the Main Library Auditorium

Saturday, January 28
Performance - Chinese New Year Dancers

The Tang Dance brings the historical songs and legends of Chinese New Year to the Library. Classical Chinese dances are styled after ancient forms of dances that emulate the movements of goddesses. The focus is not only technique but Chinese cultural, historical, and geographical education. Students perform dance styles from different regions of China.

2:00 p.m. in the Main Library Auditorium

Sunday, January 29
Concert - Kristine Jackson

From her gritty, smoky vocals to her soul-moving songwriting and unique guitar style, Kristine Jackson’s music is raw. Known by her fans as KJ, Jackson has made a name for herself as a vocalist, multi-instrumentalist, and songwriter. In “Candy Store,” KJ dealt with her sexual abuse as a child. Since then, she’s helped raise over $50,000 to fight Hodgkin’s lymphoma.

6:00 p.m. in the Main Library Learning Lab

Wednesday, February 1
Literature Series - “A Fort of Nine Towers: An Afghan Family Story”

Qais Akbar Omar writes a riveting memoir of his family’s experiences in Afghanistan. Kabul was a garden where 7-year-old Qais flew kites from the roof of his grandfather’s house. Then came the hollow sounds of rocket fire as the Mujahideen took over Afghanistan, and the country erupted in civil war. The Afghan culture told through the folktales and poetic voice of Omar will be the primary focus of this four-week course, presented by Barbara Parr. Please Register in advance at www.lifelonglearningcleveland.org, or by calling the Library at (216) 226-8275.

7:00 p.m. in the Main Library Multipurpose Room

Saturday, February 4
Film – “Billy Budd” (1962)

Peter Ustinov captains the sailing ship H.M.S. Avenger when the Napoleonic Wars come to a month-long life-changing event: losing her cousin to Hodgkin's lymphoma and going public about her sexual abuse as a child. Since then, she’s helped raise over $50,000 to fight Hodgkin’s lymphoma.

2:00 p.m. in the Main Library Auditorium

Sunday, February 5
Concert - TriHearn

Siblings Caitlin, Brendan and Conor Hearn started playing as a trio in 2002. TriHearn’s sound is a mix of Irish, Scottish and American folk music. That’s why they fit so well with a tall, funny mime. Their blend of guitar, fiddle, cello and three part harmony will lift your spirits and make you say, “Signt!”

2:00 p.m. in the Main Library Auditorium

Tuesday, February 7
Film – “Salam Neighbor” (2015)

In an effort to better understand refugee life, filmmakers Zach Ingrasci and Chris Temple spent one month living alongside displaced families in the Za’atari refugee camp. As the first filmmakers ever allowed by the United Nations to be given a tent and registered inside a refugee camp, Zach and Chris were able to get a never before seen look into the world’s most pressing crisis, “Salam Neighbor” is an award-winning feature documentary and campaign to connect the world to refugees. Their goal is to tell the stories of refugees with the dignity they deserve and the depth the world needs. This film is presented by The Refugee Response, an organization that empowers refugees in Northeast Ohio to become self-sufficient and contributing member of their new communities.

How To Overcome Heartbreak:
Recovering From Misguided Love By Nicole D. Miller
by Lisa Calippe

If heartbreak is a part of life, how can we survive it? Nicole D. Miller, MBA, provides many thoughtful answers to the question as she describes her journey through the pain of lost love in her new book, “How to Overcome Heartbreak: Recovering from Misguided Love.” The local author and speaker will be coming to Lakewood Public Library as part of our Meet the Author series on Thursday, February 9, 2017 at 7:30 p.m. The talk will take place in the Main Library Basement Auditorium at 15425 Detroit Avenue.

According to Miller, it was her faith that saved her from suicide and brought her through a seemingly endless season of sorrow. Heartbreak became the catalyst for healing, both spiritually and emotionally. As she navigated the obstacles of recovery on her blog, www.betterthanwine.net, a book began to take shape. The result is this heartfelt little guide.

Join Nicole D. Miller as she discusses the following topics from “How to Overcome Heartbreak: Recovering from Misguided Love”: Healing from breakups, Wholeness in singleness, Healthy relationships and Spirituality. Books will be available for sale and signing at the event.

Teen Fine Artists Paint The Classics
by Nicki Petruccio

The Lakewood Public Library is looking for some talented teens for their fine art program, “Paint a Masterpiece.” This is one of the first teen art programs ever offered by the Library which will focus on young artists of some experience rather than beginners, and aims to offer a little more insight and skilled instruction. For this exciting series, each young artist will be assigned a famous painting to recreate. Visual skills will be key as they disect complex color creation, composition, brush stroke style, and other components in an attempt to mimic a masterpiece.

Master studies are a classic tradition in art education which help open students’ eyes to new techniques, styles, and approaches to art-making. Teens confident in acrylic paint and color mixing who are eager to practice and hone their skills are ideal candidates for this fun and free program. A Masterpiece is open to students in 8th through 12th grade and will take place Monday evenings in February from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Please this is only a four session program, participants are required to be able to attend all sessions to ensure their project will be completed. The final day to register is January 31. Call the Lakewood Public Library Children’s & Youth Services desk to register for this program at (216) 226-8275 ext. 140.

Yin Tang Dance Performs At Lakewood Public Library
by Elaine Rosenberger

In celebration of Chinese New Year, Yin Tang Dance will perform traditional Chinese dances on Saturday, January 28 at 2 p.m. in the Main Library Auditorium. Under the direction of Yin Tang, the dance company is the premier Chinese dance company in Cleveland.

Traditional Chinese dance mimics the movements of the goddesses, but each region in China has its own dances. Arrayed in beautiful traditional costumes, the Yin Tang Dancers will showcase dances from various regions of China.

This special afternoon performance will emphasize not only traditional Chinese movement, but also highlight Chinese geography, history and culture. Admission is free and open to all, and all ages are welcome to attend.

Sharing The Dream
by Marge Foley

These beautiful handmade cards, pictured at right, were crafted by students attending a program at the Lakewood Public Library on Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Monday, January 16. After stories and a song celebrating King’s life and legacy, the participants had fun making a greeting card to warm the hearts of nursing home residents. The cards are being distributed to the folks living at O’Neill Healthcare Lakewood. Each child took home a booklet about the life of Dr. King to cut and color, a song sheet, and a bookmark.

LHS, Designer Warren Earn Award For Set Design

by Christine Gordillo

Congratulations to Lakewood City Schools parent and Erie Design co-owner Shawn Warren and the Lakewood High School Barnstormers Club for winning the prestigious Northeast Ohio Performing Arts List for Musical Scene Design for last May’s Barnstormers production of Stephen Sondheim’s “Into the Woods.” The NEohioPAL award winners are nominated and voted on by the public and were created to bring recognition to the region’s non-professionals working in the theater.

In other Barnstormers’ news, the drama club recently won a grant from the Lakewood Art Festival Board for $750 to go toward costumes for this spring’s musical, “Little Women.” Director of costumes for the club, Autumn Sabin, applied for and won the grant.

The next Barnstormers’ event will be its annual Winter One Act Plays production, with shows directed, written and acted by the students. Those shows will run February 1-4 in the Lakewood High Art Atrium at 7:30 each night. There will also be a 4 p.m. performance on Friday, February 3. Tickets are $5 at the door.

Kindergarten Parent Info Night, Registration Coming Up

by Christine Gordillo

Rangers Hold Off River for Girls Hoops Win

by Mike Deneen

The Lakewood girls basketball team held off a furious second half rally to defeat Rocky River 46-44 on Monday at Harding Middle School. Ranger guard Raekwon Greenfield scored 20 points to lead the Rangers; center Olivia Nagy hit a three pointer to open the second half, helping to build a 15-9 lead the first period, helping to build a 15-9 lead last year. Tracy Holden, the twins’ mother, has enjoyed seeing her kids contribute so well. They have been playing since they were seven years old. “It’s in their blood,” she says with a smile.

The team is well positioned for the future, as leading scorers include juniors Mac McFarlin and Patrick Gilman. They have two more home games remaining on the schedule. They host Nordonia on Saturday 28, and Brooklyn on February 4th. Home games are played at Serpentini Arena at Winterhurst, and start at 7pm. The Brooklyn game will be Senior Night, where this year’s seniors will be honored for their contributions to the program.

BOYS HOOPS WINS THREE STRAIGHT THRILLERS

A difficult early schedule caused the team to be tied 1-1 in the first quarter. However, they went on a 10-0 run over the next five minutes, cutting the lead to 34-29. Bebie sank another three pointer to open the second half, helping to build a 36-29 lead going into the fourth quarter.

River stayed hot in the final period, hitting a pair of three point baskets early. Bebie made a three with 5:40 left that cut the lead to 36-35, firing up the Pirate fans that traveled over the river. Norcross responded with a basket that made it 38-35 with 4:29 left in the game. From there on out, it became a contest of free throws. Whenever River got within a point, Lakewood would respond by making foul shots. Greenfield hit a pair of clench-free free throws with 24 seconds remaining to build a 45-41 lead. Bebie sank another three pointer with ten seconds left, making the game 46-44. The Pirates had 7.8 seconds on their final possession, and managed to move the ball under the basket for a potential game-tying layup. However, 6’3” Olivia Nagy swatted away the shot as the clock hit zeroes. The Rangers escaped with the win, and the Lakewood crowd collectively exhaled.

The victory moves Lakewood to 10-4 on the season; Rocky River fall to 4-9. The Rangers travel to North Ridgeville for their next game, then return home to face Amherst on January 21. The varsity game is scheduled for 1:45 at Harding Middle School.

Ranger Sports Roundup

by Mike Deneen

RANGER HOCKEY CONTINUES AMAZING TURNAROUND

The LHS hockey team has been one of the most improved teams in the state this season. Second-year head coach Mark Ferfolia, who has 35 years experience in local high school hockey, has led an impressive turnaround in the program. Last year they struggled to a 2-25 record. This year they are 11-11, with a very strong 7-1 record in their division.

Last season the team was very short-handed on players. In fact, they were almost unable to field a team. However, a late infusion of players allowed the team to play...although not at a very high level. The roster had a lot of inexperienced players, and did not include an experienced goalie. Defenseman Jonah Treible stepped bravely stepped into the goalie position, one of the most difficult in all of sports. An injured starter played during this offseason has sparked the turnaround. Twin brothers Rob and Will Holden are among the new freshmen on the team. Will, a forward, is one of the leading scorers on the team. Rob has taken over in goal, allowing Treible to return to his natural position of defensemen. These changes has tightened up the team’s defense, which struggled mightly last year. Tracy Holden, the twins’ mother, has enjoyed seeing her kids contribute so well. They have been playing since they were seven years old. “It’s in their blood,” she says with a smile. The team is well positioned for the future, as leading scorers include juniors Mac McFarlin and Patrick Gilman. They have two more home games remaining on the schedule. Ranger boys’ hoops coach Alex Cummack has been drawing up winning plays during the team’s hot streak.

the Ranger boys hoops team to get off to a slow start, but they found their groove by mid January. The team won three consecutive conference games, two of which were on the road. Each game came down to the final minute. The streak began at Midview, where the Bengals beat the Middies 63-62 on a buzzer beater. Chris Golden led the team with 12 points in the win. Lakewood returned home to face North Ridgeville, and came away with a thrilling double overtime win. Junior Radkown Whitfield made the biggest play of the game, stealing an inbounds pass and scoring to tie the first overtime in the closing seconds. Junior Jacob Sala led Lakewood with 23 points, six of which were in the first OT period. Senior Chris Golden scored 11 for Lakewood, and Liam Dough also hit double digits with 10 points. Senior Blake Seta had nine points, seven of which came in the first.

The Rangers returned to the road to defeat 62-61. Junior Jabrell Boyd provided heroics for this game, scoring the winning basket with six seconds left. Boyd led all Ranger scorers with 12 points in the game. The three game winning streak lifts the Rangers record to 5-7 on the season. They have two home games this weekend, facing Olmsted Falls on Friday and Bay on Saturday. Both games are at Harding Middle School, and both are scheduled to begin at 7:35 p.m.

GIRLS HOOPS HOSTING FUNDRAISER/SEASON UPDATE

There will be a fundraiser for the LHS girls basketball team on Saturday, January 28th from 7 to 9pm around the Corner. Admission is only $20, which includes pizza, wings, veggies, and beer. To get tickets, contact any LHS player or coach; or you can show up and pay at the door.

The team is having a very good season, reaching a 10-4 record after a home win against Rocky River. After building a double-digit second half lead, Lakewood held off a furious second half rally to win the game 46-44. Ryann Greenfield scored 20 points to lead the Rangers; center Olivia Nagy had 14 points and free throw blocks.

The Rangers host Avon Lake and North Olmsted on February 1 and 4, respectively at Harding Middle School.

I've Dreamt Too Superfly:
Reviews Of Recent Releases By Local Bands Pt. 41
by Buzz Kompier

Obligatory Disclaimer: Record reviews are a tricky business. It's one thing to critique music, but what about the looks you like about it? That being said, if I review your thing and I didn't like something, don't feel too bad. My opinion doesn't matter all that much.

Comrade Question - Pepe Polo - Superdreamer Records - 10 songs - LP, download
Based on the name of the artist (decent enough), the name of the record (not great), and the cover (frankly, just bad), I really had no idea what to expect. Maybe some kind of indie psych thing? But no, this is not that. For the most part, the songs on here are very poppy indie rock. The first three songs on Side A—those being the actually very catchy pseudo-purloin of "Bastard," the garage pop of "Song About A Woman," and the far-out but-recorded-like-any-indie-band of "Old"—I enjoyed, but the record kinda lost it for me after that. As for what's on Side B, I like "The Way That You Are," which is an uptempo number, "Wine" sounds like it could be in a commer- cial for some restaurant (I don't know what restaurant I'm thinking of, I don't watch much TV anymore) and so I see less commercials, but I know it's reminding me of something). "Ah Ah Ah" was probably only disappointing to me because it was as good as Heavenly Queen's "Uh Uh Uh." The rest of the songs are, and the closing track "Stop Dying So Much," which had a garage stomp beat but was again too just indie for me. I think maybe this record's biggest issue is the production, because I liked it more the second I listened through when I was focusing more on the songs. Maybe if I kept listening to it again and again, it would grow on me more, but to be honest, I didn't particularly feel like listening to it again. It is what it is, or is it? It is? It is? 3/27
(superdreamerrecords.com for the record, comradequesation.bandcamp.com to download)

Nervosas - Utility - Superdreamer Records - 3 songs - 7" I thought about saying that Nervo- nas are a band that I respect for what they are and like certain songs of, but have never really grabbed me altogether, but then I consid- ered that I've never really been more than enough of their work to say that and so decided not to say it. But then I said it here anyways. "Utility" is either post-punk or very rever- b-heavy as a whole and doesn't really grab me, but bigger fans than I will probably dig it. Side B has two covers, which is never a wise choice when the covers you're doing are better than your originals. "Teenage Depression," originally by Goner, is a good punk rocker with dual lead vocals. "Kasota," originally by Frozen Teens, is very power pop. I quite like both the songs on this side. It's a shame that they're not by Nervosas so I could say how good Nervosas are. Actually, they're a very capable band, musicianship-wise, but their songs, about 40 to 45 percent of the time, just don't do anything for me. I feel like I should be extra nice here to make up for that one time I was at Ace Of Cups and accidentally ignored The Jeff talking to me because I was in my own little world (I was excited to see Thomas Jefferson Slave Apart- ments), but I don't think he took it personally. Sorry, The Jeff. I guess this record is it for Nervosas, now that Mickey is in Cleveland, Jeff is busy with 20XIX, and Nick, I assume, is still doing sound at AoC. I don't know how to end it without saying something that will come off as sar- casmic even though I wouldn't mean it to be, so I guess this is it. 3/35

Goners - Psychic Wheels - Persevering Drift - Superdreamer Records - 12 songs - LP, download Psychic Wheels would, I guess, be the Columbus equivalent of Cleveland’s Ma Holos, while not sounding particularly like Ma Holos. Actually, I take that back; they have their moments. Certain bits of this LP reminded me of Great Plains (except without the genius of Ron House...or the amazing drumming of Dave Greene...or, okay, so like Great Plains if they weren't great. Like normal Plains, maybe.). Other bits were reminiscent of the fuzz/ popsound of some of the more com- mercial moments on Nuggets. Songs like "Please, Don't" and "Spinning Records" reminded me of New York's Space Wolves, just to complicate my favorite tunes here were the Side A closer "(I Need A) Dream," of, but have never really grabbed for me. I don't know that was inten- tional, but still cool. 3/65
(superdreamerrecords.com or download it at psychicwheels.bandcamp.com)

I heard something about this brand new last Psychic Wheels release, which, if true, is a shame, as they had some good stuff. However, this is a darn good swan song. Side A, "Deny It," is a good slow burn fuzzy indie rock tune. The organ playing is cool on this one, and it complements the dual lead vocals nicely. I like that the guitar solo parts are more cacopho- nies of distortion than any kind and the actual moments of melody. It's sorta like how on that Ricky Hamilton solo tape, every guitar lead is just a single note of feedback, except more modulated. The real winner here, however, is the flip side, "Outside Yr Door." Speaking of our boy Ricky, this track was initially available on the Quality Time Records compilation tape (I kinda think of Superdreamer as the Columbus sibling of Quality Time for whatever reason. Sheer quantity of releases, perhaps. Ricky’s win- ning that battle, though.). It's a very catchy upempo poppy rocker. Good vocal performance and even a real guitar solo, too! I might've put it as Side A if I were the band, but either way it works as a nice counterpart to the slower groove of "Deny It." Hey, if this is the last we hear of Psychic Wheels, at least it's on a high note. 3/5

Rocky River Chamber Music Society Presents
“Factory Seconds Brass Trio” In Two Concerts
by Carol Jacobs

After presenting the Brazilian Gui- tar Quartet in October and Les Délices in November, Rocky River Chamber Music Society returns in February with not one, but two concerts! Both will fea- ture The Cleveland Orchestra's second chair brass players—an ensemble with the playful title, "Factory Seconds Brass Trio." Both concerts will take place in the outstanding acoustical environment of the sanctuary at West Shore Unitar- ian Universalist Church, 20401 Hilliard Boulevard in Rocky River.

The Society's first concert in 2017 will be its biennial children's concert to be held on Saturday morning, Feb- ruary 18 at 11:00 a.m. This fun and free children's concert with Factory Sec- onds Brass Trio will highlight French composer Francis Poulsen’s “Sonata for Horn, Trumpet, and Trombone,” and will also include storytelling, audience participation, and artwork—perhaps by members of the audience! This concert is appropriate for both the young (3+) and the young at heart. The concert will last approximately 45 minutes.

The following Monday, February 20 at 7:30 p.m., Factory Seconds Brass Trio will perform an adult concert featuring works by Bach, Hindemith, and Nelhy- bel. The program will also include the world premiere of a work for brass by contemporary classical music composer David Loeb. At both concerts the musi- cians of Factory Seconds Brass Trio will be Jack Sutte, trumpet; Jesse McCormick, horn; and Richard Stout, trombone.

In addition to holding the second chair positions in their respective brass sections of The Cleveland Orchestra, all three musicians are on the faculty of Baldwin Wallace Conservatory of Music. Founded in 2012, Factory Seconds Brass Trio has performed locally, regionally and nationally in a variety of settings. The group’s depth of experience and broad repertoire ranging from Early Music to 20th and 21st century music brings a dis- tinctive voice into brass chamber music. Their plans for 2017 include recording

Our First Stand To Save Health Care

by Tristan Rader

Sunday, more than 400 people came to the SEIU 1199 headquarters on E. 30th St. to rally and protest together—stood up and demanded that healthcare should be a right! The first round of applause went to the first speaker Steve Holecko of the Cuyahoga County Progressive Caucus (CCPC), “We will not be satisfied when healthcare is merely protected; we want universal care!” Dave Pavlick of the Single Payer Action Network (SPAN) and Representative, D-District 13, Nickie Antonio also delivered remarks about moving towards a Medicare for all or single payer model and fighting back against Medicare voucher programs.

The Northshore AFL-CIO teamed up with CCPC to sponsor the event which was called for by three of the top democrats in the country: Senator Bernie Sanders, Senator Chuck Schumer and Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi. Columbus and Akron also had similar events and many more were happening all over the country. At the meeting, we collected over 100 hand-written narratives regarding the importance of our healthcare that will be sent to Rob Portman this week.

The response to Trump here and over the last two months has been powerful. As Harriet Applegate of the Northshore AFL-CIO put it: “This is what the Tea Party did to Obama in 2009… and we are off to a much better start!”

Councilman Dan O’Malley and I also had a chance to speak. I would say Lakewood was very well-represented at the rally. The “ask” we made was that people take the time to call their representatives. Attend actions. Respond to requests to call and write to officials. The Indivisible Guide was discussed… if you have not seen this blueprint to taking back our country… please visit IndivisibleGuide.com and download it.

Passion For Change Seeks Communications Professionals For Pilot Program And Pro Bono Projects

by Marilyn Mongeon Quill

Both U.S. and British statistics show that one in four of us experiences a mental illness in a given year. And if you aren’t affected directly, mental illness will have an impact on your life through a family member, friend, neighbor, colleague, or through a chance encounter in the grocery store or on the street.

Passion for Change, a Cleveland area not-for-profit created to break the stigma of mental illness, is recruiting professionals in marketing and communications to participate in its core program, Communicators for Mental HealthSM. The program, designed as a national prototype, has been launched as a Greater Cleveland Pilot Project. The project is designed to train marketing and communications professionals through an online certificate course, “Understanding Mental Illness, Addiction, Stigma & Advocacy,” and then match them with underfunded local mental health/addiction organizations for a pro bono project. Together, they will help effect change through a shared passion.

“This is an exceptional opportunity for both marketing and communications professionals and mental health and addiction organizations,” said President & CEO Marilyn Mongeon Quill. “The pilot project is groundbreaking, with benefits all around. Marketing and communications professionals can enhance their resumes through education and a pro bono project in a specialized area and, as trained advocates, they will be better equipped to support family, friends, and colleagues dealing with a mental illness. Additionally, mental health and addiction organizations will have access to marketing and communications professionals who actually ‘get’ mental illness and stigma and are prepared to assist in a pro bono capacity.”

Passion for Change has been developing Communicators for Mental Health in partnership with Greater Cleveland mental health and addiction organizations. Its earlier Phase I included representatives from Center for Families & Children, MHS (now Frontline Services), Mary Douglas Center, NAMI Greater Cleveland, Recovery Resources, Spectrum of Supportive Services, and Suicide Prevention Education Alliance (now LifeAct). Volunteers in a variety of fields—including public relations, marketing, social and electronic media, advertising, website development and graphics and fine arts—will find personal satisfaction in giving back to the community. “It’s also an opportunity for them to put Greater Cleveland on the map in developing a national prototype,” said Mongeon Quill.

Passion for Change’s mission is to be a catalyst in breaking the stigma of mental illness by shedding light, challenging misperception, and driving change through research, advocacy, and education.

For more information or to apply for the Communicators for Mental HealthSM Greater Cleveland Pilot Project, contact Marilyn Mongeon Quill at 216.496.3295 or info@passionforchange.org. Website: www.passionforchange.org.

Our Friend Dennis Petkac Has So Much To Live For!

Our friend Dennis is a longtime Lakewood resident and owner of Elements Hair Studio on Madison Ave. He's also dad, a husband, and a pretty damn good musician. Most of all Dennis is a kind, sweet, jovial, creative and generous dear friend to many who are lucky to know him and call him friend. He's also THE best damn story-teller you'd ever want holding court at your party.

2016 was somewhat of an unpleasant year for many and it hit Dennis, his wife Karen and son Oliver especially hard. Beginning some years ago, Dennis and his family have had to overcome several misfortunes which in recent years included some serious family health issues, an abrupt lease termination to his business Elements Hair Studio and a fire to a building under renovation which was to be the new Lakewood home to Elements Hair Studio. Through all these and other hardships, I and many who know Dennis have watched him take it all on and get right back up with few complaints. More striking than each episode of adversity has been seeing Dennis face it all down with few complaints and a casual, confident attitude of just knowing that somehow things are going to be even better. We could all learn something from this.

More recently Dennis, with his family at his side, has been very bravely facing down a tough and unfair fight with cancer. Tough as he is, the illness has left Dennis unable to work with cancer. Tough as he is, the illness has left Dennis unable to work. Watching in the wake of caring for Dennis.

From personal experience many of us already know what a financial burden this disease can quickly become. This is why Jenn & Mike Pae and I have teamed up to host a fundraiser benefit concert on January 29th at Mahall’s 20 Lanes. This event is all ages, family friendly and open to the public. It will run from noon to 11 p.m. Admission is a $10 suggested donation per person. The concert performances will feature 15 local bands donating their talents this afternoon and into the evening. This unique and varied talent line-up will include live performances for all tastes by the following bands and artists:

Lisa Ellis/Dark Silos
Noon
Oldboy
Revolution Brass Band
Tappington Trio

Something for just about everyone, whether you want to just listen to good live music, get up on your feet and dance, or bang your heads! We just need you and your music-loving friends and family to show up and make it an event to remember! And do not forget about all the other great stuff about our dear Mahall’s 20 Lanes: tasty food, drinks, bowling, etc.

Adding to the entertainment, we will be holding raffles and auctions of generous donations from several local businesses as well as unique works created by local artists which are valued in the thousands of dollars. At press time event sponsor donors included: Achieve Fitness Studio, Aladdin’s, Borderline Cafe, Campbell’s Sweet Factory, Cerny Shoes, Contantine’s, Daystar Boutique, Deagan’s, Derek Hess Gallery, Forbici Salon, George Shuba Photography, Gray Dog Diner, Gina DeSantis Ceramics, Greek Village Grill, Joe Kleon Concert Pics, Joe’s Deli, Kimberly Monaco Designs, Lucky’s Cafe, Namaste India Garden, Paisley Monkey, Party Light Basket, Pet’s General, Rebecca Haveland, Roman Fountain, Root Cafe, Spin Bike Shop, Susan Kelley, Sweet Designs, Taco Tonto’s, The Bottle House, Urban Bulk Foods, Vance Music Studios, and Yuzu.

So mark your calendars, load up your friends and family, stop at the ATM and show up for the party! In the meantime, please check out the Facebook pages and websites of our generous sponsors and give them your business and when you do please thank them for supporting the “So Much To Live For” benefit.

If you are a business owner and would also like to sponsor and support this cause, please contact Anthony Nanni, Jenn Karaffa Pae or Michael Pae via Facebook Messenger.

ALL performance, raffle and auction proceeds from this event will go directly to benefit Dennis’ family.
STNA Your Way: Creating Your Healthcare Future

by Joni M. Nowak RN/CCRN

What if you were offered a career choice that would permit you to begin working in the healthcare field in just two weeks? A jumpstart to a career that working in the healthcare field in just two weeks? A jumpstart to a career that coordinator card will be issued and the student is on their way to enjoying a bright and shiny new career in the healthcare field. The Lakewood Learning Center offers the STNA Your Way Program monthly; running day & evening classes.

The STNA Your Way Program Coordinator is Joni Nowak RN/CCRN, a critical care nurse, in the State of Ohio 38 years. Joni has spent most of her career in Trauma but has worked in many Long Term Care (LTAC) Facilities along the way, affording her a first-hand look at the job of the STNA. Driven to train the highest quality STNA in the job market today, she applied for her Program Coordinator (PC) status and opened ‘STNA Your Way’ one of the most complete, convenient and affordable Programs in the area.

The medical community as a whole, remains grappling with a shortage of Primary Care Physicians, Nurses & STNA’s. The shortage is being further strained by a disproportionate aging population. Healthcare professionals, including the STNA, are now mandated to meet certain core competencies to obtain jobs in the healthcare field. The Lakewood Learning Center opened its doors in 2012 as an American Heart Association Training Center. In March of 2015 we broadened our course curriculum to include the State Tested Nursing Assistant Program. To date we have trained over 75 STNA’s with a ‘pass’ rate of 87% on the written portion of the State Exam and a 96% on the skills portion of the State Exam… one of the highest cumulative ‘pass’ rates in the State of Ohio!

The Lakewood Learning Center has assisted in placing 100% of those who want to be working, in healthcare jobs. These graduates are working in area Nursing Homes and Hospitals getting paid far above minimum wage, enjoying full-time hours/full-time benefits on a career path they can be proud of. STNA jobs are in high demand. As Home Care

Meanwhile, for any budget, there are options for further reducing your dependence on limited and polluting fuel resources. Although NOPEC is Lakewood residents’ default supplier, anyone who buys electricity can go shopping independently. The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio offers a listing of eligible suppliers at energychoice.ohio.gov including a handful of companies with 100% renewable products. Depending on income and electricity consumption, these can be surprisingly affordable.

For leaner budgets, it’s worth remembering that cutting back on energy use always means cutting back on energy costs, and using less of NOPEC’s 50% nonrenewable energy can also save money. The not-for-profit NOPEC is happy to help, too. As part of its mission to reduce communities’ utility bills, it promotes energy efficiency steps which any household can benefit from. Dear Valued Customers of India Garden and Namaste,

Thank you Lakewood for your support and patronage in making India Garden and Namaste Indian Cuisine Restaurants in Northern Ohio. Meanwhile, for any budget, there are options for further reducing your dependence on limited and polluting fuel resources. Although NOPEC is Lakewood residents’ default supplier, anyone who buys electricity can go shopping independently. The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio offers a listing of eligible suppliers at energychoice.ohio.gov including a handful of companies with 100% renewable products. Depending on income and electricity consumption, these can be surprisingly affordable.

For leaner budgets, it’s worth remembering that cutting back on energy use always means cutting back on energy costs, and using less of NOPEC’s 50% nonrenewable energy can also save money. Women, And Men, Of Lakewood Represented At Local And National Women’s Marches

by Mike Deneen

As I write this, we are less than 21 hours until the Trump Regime takes over in Washington. As I posted on November 9, I fear that there will be dark and troubled times.

In recent weeks it has occurred to me that Lakewood is a preview of Trump’s Administration. There are many parallels between Team Trump and Team Summers. So perhaps we shouldn’t be too alarmed by Trump...

We have already seen many of his tactics locally. As the Bible says, “There is nothing new under the Sun.”

Here are some of the parallels I’ve noticed.

“Both Summers and Trump are members of the “Lucky Sperm Club,” comprised of heirs that inherited the family business from their parents.

“Unlike acquiring their wealth via family, both have convinced voters that they are “smart businessmen.”

“Both ran campaigns touting themselves as “successful businessmen” running against “career politicians.”

“Trump has feuded with the media, especially Meghan Kelly. Team Summers harassed LO’s Publisher in an effort to put the Observer out of business. They also pulled the Observer from City Hall until public outcry became too strong. Trump has pondered banning the media from the White House altogether. God help us after he is sworn in.

“Trump famously refuses to release his tax returns. Team Summers has fought release of information on the Hospital deal at every turn. There is much they still haven’t released. Both Trump and Summers loathe transparency. (Rich guys don’t like to be questioned.)

“Team Summers sent the police to harass a critic. Just wait until Trump gets control of the FBI.

“Both Summers and Trump love simple, empty slogans, such as “The Future of Health Care” and “Make America Great Again.” This sloganizing is a byproduct of their expensive MBA educations.

“Both Trump and Summers have hijacked a political party for political expediency. Lifelong Republican Summers pretends to be a Democrat. Longtime Democrat Trump joined the GOP Circus. In both cases, officials of those parties cynically enabled these men. That’s because many leaders in both parties are Corporatists -- big business rules...social issues are “just for show.” Party leaders also crave power. Ryan and McConnell overcame their initial rejection and eventually embraced Trump. Marx, O’Leary, and Anderson did the same with Summers.

“Both offer no specifics on their big plans. We still don’t know what Summers plans to do with the hospital site. Just like we have no idea what will pay for Trump’s Wall, or what the GOP will use to replace the Affordable Care Act, “Both are corporatists that place the importance of business over citizens. Team Summers advocated eminent domain abuse for Issue 47. Trump has personally benefitted from eminent domain abuse in his businesses.

“Both Trump and Summers are happy to divide the population for their own benefit. Team Summers has created Lakewood’s Civil War, which dates back to Issue 47. Trump joyously divides the nation by race, religion, gender, etc.

“I’m sure that many so-called “Lakewood Democrats” will take offense to this comparison. They will say “Summers is a nice guy, Donald is a pig!”

“It’s true that their styles are different. For example, Team Trump loves to be openly and loudly racist. Team Summers prefers softer “dog whistle bigotry” on issues such as pit bulls and basketball hoops. However, once you peel back the stylistic differences, there isn’t that much difference between the two.

“I hope I’m wrong, but I fear for our future.

Stuff The Subaru For My Best Friend’s Bowl
by Judy Towner
My Best Friend’s Bowl is a non-profit pet food bank providing pet food to owners experiencing difficulty feeding their pet. We’ve been around since 2011, distributing food at the Lakewood Community Services Center here in Lakewood.

On February 5th, 2017, or Super Bowl Sunday to sport fans, our dedicated volunteers will once again be out front at Lakewood High School, 14100 Franklin Blvd. collecting donations from our supporters. Starting at 10 am and concluding at 2 p.m. you can drop off your contribution. Enter and exit on Franklin. Drive up and our helpers will unload your donation, get your information for a tax letter and you are on your way to your Super Bowl watch party.

We are looking for dry dog and cat food, canned cat food, cat litter and piddle pads (for our senior outreach program at the Westerly apartments). If you prefer to donate cash, we’ll gratefully accept that as well. Checks can be made out to our fiscal agent, The Lakewood Foundation, just put MBFB in the memo section. You can also donate on our facebook page at My Best Friend’s Bowl or our website http://mybestfriendsbowl.lakewood.com/bowl/how-can-i-help/.

If it is raining or snowing, we will still be there! We hope to see you. Watch for our cool new signs along Franklin. They were donated to us by a great friend of MBFB!!!

Adopt-A-Pet: Surprise Bear
by Mike Denern
Meet Collar #152 Surprise Bear. This sweet girl is ready to be adopted out through the Lakewood Animal Shelter. Surprise was rescued back in September 2016 and has spent the past 5 months in foster care. When Surprise was found, she was just a tiny kitten, very timid and shy. After spending time in a loving foster home, she gained confidence and is now very friendly, playful, and loves to spend time laying near her foster mom to keep her company. She gets along with other cats, has been spayed, and is approximately 7 months old. If interested in adopting Surprise Bear, please contact the Lakewood Animal Shelter on Facebook.

This little sweetie is available for adoption from the Lakewood Animal Shelter.
Spring LECPTA Baby Bargain And Big Kid Bonanza Returning March 18th

by Kim Griffith

The Lakewood Early Childhood PTA (LECPTA) is once again planning its popular children’s resale of gently used children’s clothing (sizes newborn to 10), furniture, toys and other items. The Baby Bargain Bonanza (BBB) is planned for Saturday, March 18th at Garfield Middle School, which is located at 13114 Detroit Ave. in Lakewood. The sale is open to the public and will run from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. Admission is $5 from 8:30 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. and just $1 from 9:30 a.m. until 12:00 p.m.

There are many good deals to be found on lots of children’s gear. If it is needed for children, most likely, it can be found at the BBB! LECPTA will also be raffling off gift cards to local stores. Raffle tickets are one ticket for $1, six tickets for $5 or twenty tickets for $10. The tickets may be used to enter the raffle for just one gift card drawing, or split amongst the different gift cards. Winners do not need to be present to win. Raffle tickets can be purchased anytime by emailing bbb.lecpta@gmail.com. This is a great resource to take advantage of if you cannot attend the BBB but would like to get in on the fun of the raffle!

In addition to great deals on clothing and raffles, there will be a bake sale featuring homemade goodies as well as drinks, bags, donations and coffee available for purchase. There is sure to be a yummy treat for everyone at the bake sale.

All this sounds great, right? But what if you are thinking, “I already have a closet full of kids’ clothes and don’t have room for any more?” Well, maybe it is time to consider being a seller at the BBB. Everyone is welcome to sell children’s items that are no longer needed. The items must be clean, free from recall and in good condition with all parts and pieces. If you are interested in becoming a seller, please visit www.lecpta.com for more information or email bbb.lecpta@gmail.com. There is an early bird sign up discount available until February 18th and we will accept registration forms until tables sell out. Whether you choose to buy or sell, LECPTA looks forward to meeting you on March 18th!

Additionally – new this spring the LECPTA will be partnering with Savers Thrift Store to collect any unwanted clothing or household items that you may be purging with the new year. Savers will collect any size clothing items, shoes, linens, small appliances, electronics, sports equipment, toys, books, etc. and provide you with a receipt. A truck will be present on site at the sale from 9:30am-1:30pm. It’s a great way to donate your items, clear space in your home and help our non-profit organization raise some funds in the process.

Kim Griffith & Jen Demmitt are LECPTA Baby Bargain Bonanza Co-Chairs.

Fundraising For Autism

by Tara Quinn

This February I embark on my second trip with the Global Autism Project to Nicaragua. The Project sends 5-10 volunteers several times a year to underdeveloped areas in the world where they’ve established partnerships with developing centers focused on teaching children with autism. The goal is to provide continuous training to native therapists while respecting the culture, so they can provide therapy to children with autism in their city. The Project is committed to sustainability. I experienced first-hand their honesty and transparency.

I have worked with children with autism for 10 years, and obtained my BCaBA license last year. Summer 2015 brought several painful shifts in my life. The kind where I’m stuck in bed in my Lakewood duplex with two boxer pups at my side. My boss knew my pain, and suggested I apply to the Global Autism Project. I had heard about the Project through a coworker who went to India the previous year. Tara (center) with therapists from HI-5 Center in Jakarta along with volunteers from the Global Autism Project.

It is because of people like you who, you will never get to see directly the effects of their donations, that truly provide this opportunity to these kids. I am so grateful. If you are interested in donating, please visit https://www.crowdrise.com/skillcorps-nicaragua-february-2017/ fundraiser/taraquin

For more information on the Global Autism Project head to http://globalautismproject.org.
