Try "Sauce On The Side!"

by Ingrid Dickson & Irene Joyce (aka "The Taster Twins")

We are truly fortunate to be in the virtual food mecca that is Lakewood. Every block is peppered with restaurants large and small, chains and local, casual and upscale. That bounty entices us to sample the myriad of establishments in and around town. As a service to you and of course—to ourselves—we, the "Taster Twins," are embarking on a culinary adventure through a variety of restaurants in our community. We will, in turn, pass along our assessments to you.

Mind you, we do not presume to be gourmands or authentic food critics (being art school graduates who are now, unsurprisingly, in customer service/management); we will simply be describing our experiences as we sit down to dine at local eateries. In our opinion, food is a matter of personal taste (on many levels), but good service and a pleasant encounter is universally appreciated. A positive dining experience begins with the greeting and seating, continues with each course, right through to "Check, please!" A meal is so much more than satisfying hunger, albeit food is the paramount reason for entering a restaurant. The way a patron is treated shows hospitality and respect. Cleanliness, welcoming staff and atmosphere, and value are invitations to unbegrudgingly part with our hard-earned dollars! What do you remember about a restaurant? Obviously the food—but what can make or break a meal? An unheeded request for "sauce on the side?" A surly server? Your arms sticking to the table? A nightmarishly filthy restroom? Conversely, exceptional service, charming decor, and a spotless establishment will enhance the experience and encourage frequent return visits. Our reviews will accentuate the positive, focusing on constructive suggestions or comments and lavishing praise when duly deserved (although we cannot promise a saucy comment will not sneak in now and again). We look forward to sharing our observations with you as we strive to keep the "sauce on the side."
